

Assignment 2

1. Create a Java class eg: Student and instantiate an object of it.
2. Demonstrate the use of constructors to initialize object data.
3. Show the working of private, default, protected, and public access modifiers.
4. Create a class with encapsulated data using getter and setter methods.
5. Write a program to demonstrate constructor overloading in Java.
6. Define an interface and implement it in a class.
7. Implement two interfaces in a single class.
8. Create an abstract class with at least one abstract method.
9. Use static members to count the number of objects created.
10. Show how instance variables are different for different objects.